Sunday was a fiercely hot day, and the result was a heavy thunderstorm in the afternoon. Rain came down in terrents and lightning blazed every minute. Lightning struck Mr. C. Y. Miller's house at the top of the hill at South Pond street, knocked the top off a chimney and set the roof on fire. It also knocked Mr. Miler's dog silly, but no member of the family was hurt, The rain put the fire out before it fairly started. We haven't heard of any other houses being struck by lightning. A lot of damage was done as usual to streets and wires.

Honors Remained With Mule.

While a circus parade was in progress at Kane, Pa., one of the elephants, thinking possibly to relieve the monotony of the occasion, gave its trunk a toss in the air and brought it down with a resounding smack on a mule that had been standing at the curb quietly watching the sights. In spite of the handicap of being hitched to a delivery wagon, the mule promptly wheeled about, took quick aim, and delivered two kicks with lightning swiftness. The kicks caught the elephant squarely on the knees. It stopped for an instant, but if it even momentarily contemplated further interchanges with the mule, it gave up the idea, and finished the parade with a decided limp.-Philadelphia Record.
